REGIONAL BENEFITS

Flexibly usable production and storage hall

Zella-Mehlis is located in the heart of Germany and benefits from its central location, which makes it an important hub for the movement of goods. The property consists of a spacious, detached office building and a production hall and warehouse with a subsequent extension. The buildings were constructed between 1970 and 1996.

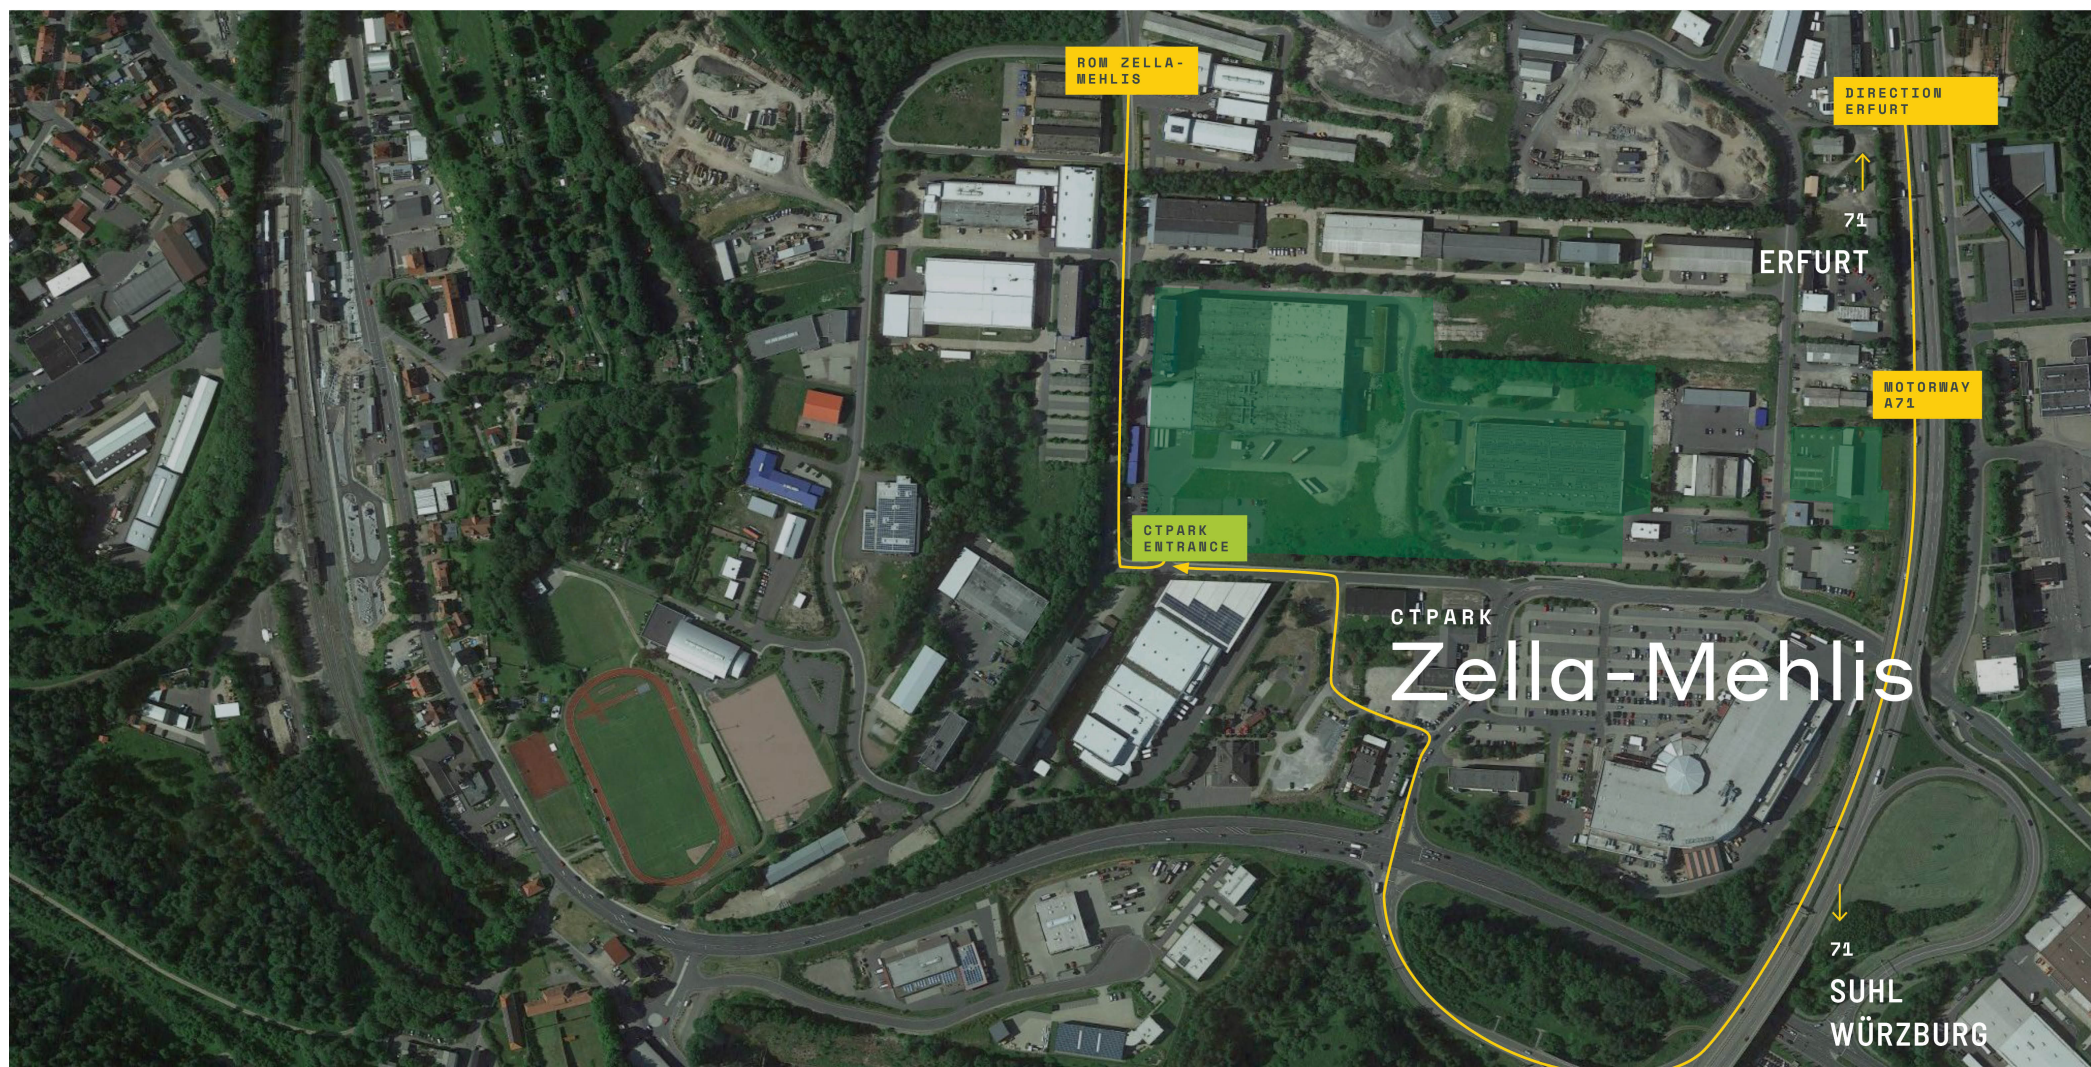

LOCAL ACCESS

Ideal production properties with direct motorway access

Zella-Mehlis is located directly on the A71 motorway, which offers fast connections to other German economic centres. This makes the location attractive for companies that rely on efficient supply chains and the town has a long tradition of manufacturing, particularly in the defence industry. However, global producers for the aviation and pharmaceutical industries are also based here.
